

This UBVO Workshop will bring together academics and coffee industry professionals and focus on the theme of coffee and power in East Africa. Presentations will cover how coffee and coffee production has shaped regional foodways and together we will ask what the futures of coffee consumption and production look like in Africa.

Speakers: Prof Simone Cinotto (University of Gastronomic Sciences, Italy), Dr Elizabeth Ewart (University of Oxford), Dr Wolde Tadesse (University of Oxford), Matthew Jordan (Gorongosa Coffee, Mozambique), Sylvere Mwizerwa (Rwacof Exports, Rwanda), Florence Nakazi (Economic Policy Research Centre, Uganda)

Convenors: Stanley Ulijaszek (University of Oxford), Sabine Parrish (City, University of London)

9:00 — Registration and coffee

9:30 — Welcome remarks and overview

Session 1: What does coffee do (to landscapes and to people)?

9:40 — The caffeinated empire: Coffee and gastrofascism in Italian East Africa, 1935-1941
Simone Cinotto

10:00 — Shade and water: Growing enset and growing coffee in southern Ethiopia
Elizabeth Ewart and Wolde Tadesse

10:20 — Session discussion, moderated by Stanley Ulijaszek

10:40 — Coffee break

Session 2: Who is coffee for?

11:00 — Start-up culture for poverty alleviation in Mozambique: A coffee story
Matthew Jordan

11:20 — Changing trends in African coffee consumption
Sylvere Mwizerwa and Florence Nakazi

11:40 — Session discussion, moderated by Sabine Parrish